Website <http://capemay-nj.aauw.net>

The purpose of this branch shall be to further AAUW's mission to advance equity for women and girls through advocacy, education, philanthropy and research.

FEBRUARY 2017 Newsletter

President's Corner

Since 1881, women have joined the American Association of University Women for many reasons – voting rights, public policy and educational and financial advancement. On the 2017 AAUW website, a list of benefits of membership include educational and career development, books and publications, branch services, insurance and medical benefits, magazines and newsletters covering public policy, and our own new hotel booking services.

But for many of us, the meaning of membership goes beyond those benefits to the personal level. This winter we lost our only Life Member, June Waters, who died at age 89. Reading her obituary, I was struck by the fact that she worked in China during the Mao years. One could only imagine her experiences. June continued to be interested in our branch and had her son read our newsletter to her each month.

Many members knew Carol Brill. We read her two books, Cape Maybe and Peace by Piece, as book club selections. She attended the meetings to listen to our discussion about them and valued our comments. Carol was an active participant in our meetings until shortly before she died.

In the months ahead, I hope you find membership in AAUW a benefit both professionally and personally.

TWEEN TECH

pearson@princeton.edu

Tween Tech, for 6th-8th girls, was held at Stockton University on January 8. Despite the snowy weather 230 girls attended and each participated in 2 of the 20 workshops offered. Following the workshops the students, their teachers, the workshop presenters and volunteers enjoyed lunch. Volunteers included: Carolyn Bassett, Connie Blocher, Nephtaly Charles, Marge Coach, Shelley Cohen, Terry Dailey, Gail Davis, Michelle Feasel, Peg Fraatz, Linda Harmon, Marion Ingram, Bethann Keenan, Evelyn Lovitz, Ann Marchesani, Mona Moore, Dottie Pearson, Suzanne Pelkaus, Anna Pfeiffer-Herbert, Mary Rydzewski, Sharon Scarangelli, Beverly Schechtman, Debbie Walker, Lynne Walters, Karen Weis, Kathy Zeigenfus and Gail Zona.

TEENTECH

pearson@princeton.edu

Teentech 2017, a day of hands-on technology and workshops for girls in grades 9, 10 and 11 will be held on Tuesday, May 23 at Stockton University. Please contact Dottie Pearson (898-4585, pearson@princeton.edu) if you would like to volunteer for this exciting event. We need about 20 volunteers to escort the girls to their workshops as well as to help them with their bracelets and evaluation forms.

TECH TREK July 16-22

pearson@princeton.edu

Principals in 963 middle schools in 20 counties were sent invitations to nominate a 7th grader to attend Tech Trek. Included are the 11 public schools and 6 private schools in Cape May County. Nominations are due in by February 10. Nominated students must then write an essay and complete an application by March 3. We already have several nominations and one application has arrived on my computer. We need volunteers, in teams of 2, to interview the girls and parent/s of the girls. This must be done between March 4 and April 6. If you would like to participate in interviewing, or would like information please email or call me (pearson@princeton.edu or 898-4585). There will be a meeting at Stockton on Wednesday, February 1 from 6-8pm for volunteer interviewers. You can also participate in this meeting by telephone, which is what I will do. Let me know if you would like instructions to call in, or you can join me at my house and we can participate by speaker phone. Thank you being involved in this exciting program.

STEM 2017 RECAP

Teentech 2017 - CONNECTING GIRLS AND TECHNOLOGY

Teentech is a project of the American Association of University Women New Jersey (AAUW NJ) in collaboration with various New Jersey colleges/universities. It is designed to encourage young women to further their education in Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM) fields.

AAUW's report, Gender Gaps, indicated that young women lag behind young men in acquiring technical proficiencies. The report cites evidence that girls are more likely to use technology when they see its real-world applications. AAUW's research, Why So Few?, documents that women are still underrepresented in high-demand, high-paying STEM careers.

Teentech will be a day of hands-on workshops designed to demonstrate that technology, engineering, and computer science are exciting and relevant. High school girls from all over the state will work together with faculty and students of the host institution to learn and practice technology-based problem-solving in a college laboratory setting. Students must be accompanied by educators and/or adult chaperones who will have their own workshop experience and panel discussion of how to encourage girls to pursue STEM education and career.

Jessica Fleck, right, associate professor of psychology, prepares middle-schoolers in the AAUW Tweentech program for her EEG demonstration Friday at Stockton University in Galloway Township. Tweentech is a one-day event designed to demonstrate that STEM — Science, Technology, Engineering and Math — education and careers are exciting, relevant, and accessible to girls and women.

Tween Tech offers girls reasons to love science

GALLOWAY TOWNSHIP — Yamylette Rojas, 14, of Atlantic City couldn't pick just one thing she liked best about Friday's Tween Tech workshops at Stockton University.

"Everything was cool," said Rojas, who wants to be an engineer working with robotics. She did finally cite the virtual reality session as a favorite.

More than 220 girls in grades seven and eight attended the second Tween Tech Friday sponsored by the American Association of University Women and Stockton University. The event introduces girls to the possibilities of a career in the sciences.

Linda Harmon, president of the Atlantic County chapter of the AAUW said their goal is also to show girls that they can be successful in science careers. A retired teacher, she recalls wanting to be a civil engineer, but was never encouraged to pursue that field.

"I was pretty much told I could be a teacher or a nurse," she said. "We want to show girls they need to believe in themselves."

nitrogen, built flashlights, investigated crime scenes and learned about the workings of the brain.

"The liquid ice cream was cool," said Kimberly Torres, 14, of Atlantic City. "When you ate it, smoke came out of your mouth."

Stockton professor Tara Luke led the workshop on building a flashlight. She said none of the girls had ever used a soldering iron before, and that alone was a valuable lesson.

"It's important to be comfortable around tools," she said. "This gives them the confidence that they learned a new skill, that this is not something they have to be afraid of."

Riley Hieb, 12, of Linwood talked about having to "screw things in and cut wires" as she made a laser that created patterns.

Michelle Wendt, who led a workshop on building a landing pad for a spaceship said the entire event consisted of hands-on experiences, and not just using a computer.

Claudine Keenan, dean of the School of Education at Stockton, said she is also interested in how educators can support girls interested in sciences and overcome the subtle gender bias and stereotyping that can still discourage girls from pursuing science and math careers.

Stockton and the AAUW also sponsor a summer week-long Tech Trek Camp for middle school girls. Keenan said having women lead the workshops sent the message that they, too, can succeed in sciences.

"Girls can identify with them," she said. "We want to fuse together the young people, young adults and senior professionals."

Dear Dr. Keenan,

Thank you for letting us go to Stockton and participate in this great experience. We got to be a part of so many new and cool workshops that we would have not been exposed to without this opportunity. Altogether, we did amazing workshops such as Chemistry of Cuisine, Science of Psychology, Spacelander Mission Design, Engineering a Better Bag, Build Your Own Personal Computer, Lissajous Lasers, and Cybersecurity.

We faced challenges with limited materials with engineering a bag to hold as much candy as possible. We got to witness objects when they interacted with liquid nitrogen. We learned about the jobs involved with psychology and more in-depth information about the human mind. We engineered a lissajous laser using batteries, mirrors, and motors. We learned about the components of a PC and how each one worked. We learned more about the engineering design in Space Lander Mission design. We tried developing a space lander that would protect two aliens from their impact on earth.

With this experience, we got to take home very important information that could help us in our future. This program has given me the opportunity to explore the different fields of STEM and think about our possible careers. This program has empowered us girls to believe in ourselves. We were able to explore the campus and have the possibility of going to college here (The food was great too!). We are grateful to Tween Tech for involving us in this endeavour.

Wanted: Amazing STEM Teachers

Tech Trek is looking for engaging female teachers who are willing to provide a 21st century fun, interactive learning experience in the fields of Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics (STEM) and who will also serve as mentors to young women ages 12 -13 who are interested in joining these fields. Teachers needed for a week long residential camp held at Stockton University from July 16 – 22, 2017.

To inquire more about Tech Trek, check out: <https://techtrek-nj.aauw.net/>

To inquire about being a teacher, check out: <http://tinyurl.com/hz7l8so>

Tech Trek - a program of AAUW

Volunteer for Tech Trek New Jersey 2017 !

Volunteering with Tech Trek is a great way to get involved in helping 8th grade girls discover their potential in STEM. Tech Trek is staffed almost entirely by volunteers, and couldn't be done without volunteer efforts. All overnight volunteers receive reimbursement for obtaining required clearance, complimentary room and board on campus, and a modest stipend.

Selection Committee Members are AAUW volunteers responsible to read all nominations and applications, following Tech Trek selection criteria and guidelines. Some selection committee members will also be responsible to conduct interviews with prospective campers and their parents or guardians.

Dorm Monitors are responsible for a small group of Tech Trek campers, provide emotional support, and respond to campers' questions and concerns for 2-3 day shifts throughout the week.

Each Dorm Monitor will have a "dorm group" Of seven to ten girls. Dorm Monitors will hold daily meetings with their dorm groups and keep track of their whereabouts throughout the day. They will accompany girls to campus activities and field trips and will be in charge of the enforcement of camp rules and policies. Dorm Monitors will rotate throughout the camp and pass along updates to their replacements for each shift.

Workshop Presenters should be organized, prepared and have a disposition that reflects excitement for Tech Trek and STEM learning. They should have a good reputation in their workplaces, schools, or communities as an involved STEM practitioner or educator and role model.

Professional Women Panelist – July 20, 2017 applications being accepted now

Tech Trek camp welcomed 41 Women in STEM professions to a networking dinner with the campers at Stockton University's Campus Center Event Room on Thursday, July 21, 2016 from 6:00 – 9:30 pm. We are seeking at least 40 again for Thursday, July 20, 2017. Contact Dottie Pearson pearson@princeton.edu or (609) 898-4585.

Cape May County AAUW Members

I have taken on the responsibility of chair of the Dorm Mom/Counselor Team for 2017 Tech Trek. I cannot emphasize enough how much fun and satisfaction working with these very smart and peppy girls is. Dorm Moms are on duty from after dinner to breakfast for two nights, off a night and on again for two. The duties are activities after dinner, monitoring cell phones, rules emphasis and lights out. And deal with any personal problems that come up.

Please consider volunteering for this summer's Tech Trek.

COLLEGE CONNECTIONS

marion.ingram@comcast.net

Our AAUW branch will be sponsoring a College Connections program on "Sexual Assault on Campuses" at our local Community College at 11:30AM on February 20th. All AAUW members are invited to attend. This will be a repeat for the students of the League of Women Voters program at the Old Court House in CMCH last January 24th. Marie Hayes Cape May County Freeholder, retired Cape May County Detective, will speak about police involvement in Sexual Assault and Dr. DeFranco, ACCC Title IX Co-ordinator, will speak about victim rights under Title IX Regulations.

Carol Brill – our Cape May County Branch member and local author

BRILL, CAROL ANN - 65, Cape May author and Cove Beach regular Carol Fragale Brill, 65, died peacefully at her Lower Township home on January 14, 2017. Carol was born and raised in Philadelphia and was a graduate of Cardinal Dougherty High School and State University of New York. She earned an MS Health Education from St. Joseph's University and an MFA from Fairleigh Dickenson. She and Jim moved full time to Cape May in 1997. Carol began her career in 1978 working primarily in healthcare as an HR executive and professional coach and mentor. She retired to enjoy a full-time escape to beaches in Cape May and Florida in 2014. She expanded her professional scope to writing in 1997, publishing two novels featuring Cape May settings, Peace by Piece and Cape Maybe. She was named a Press of 2016 best local author. In lieu of flowers, consider donations to AtlantiCare Cancer Care Institute. AtlantiCare Foundation at: 2500 English Creek Ave., Egg Harbor Township, NJ 08234.

On another sad note, our Cape May County branch and National AAUW Life Member, June Waters, passed away in December.

from The Newtown Bee

June Waters, 89, of Newtown died peacefully December 23. She was born in Newark, N.J., daughter of the late Julia and George Dorer.

Mrs. Waters attended William Smith College, Newark State Teacher's College, and Manhattanville College in Purchase, N.Y., where she earned her bachelor's degree and her teaching certificate.

During her career as an educator, she worked at the Harbin (China) Institute of Technology, and the Beijing Institute of Technology, also in China. Mrs Waters was also involved in a wide variety of organizations, including the US/China People's Friendship Association, the World Affairs Council, the Council on Foreign Relations, the American Association of University Women, the Travelers Century Club, and the Absecon (N.J.) Presbyterian Church.

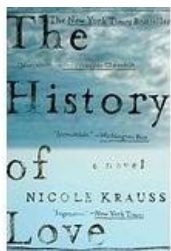

Her sons and daughter-in-law, Kurt Waters and Kris and Barbara Waters; her grandsons, Michael and Thomas Waters; and her granddaughters, Kelsey, Molly, Lindsey, and Julia Waters survive her. Her husband, Richard Waters, and her son, Karl Waters, predeceased her.

Mrs. Waters will be laid to rest next to her husband and son in Evergreen Cemetery, Hillside, N.J.

June lived in an assisted living facility with her husband in Galloway, NJ until 2014. She attended as many Cape May County branch activities as she could. We once held our book club meeting at her condo in Sea Isle City. June also gave us a talk about teaching in China the year we chose Asian-themed books. After her husband passed, she moved to an assisted living facility in Newtown, CT to be near relatives. The mission of AAUW was important to June and she was a generous donor to our scholarship fund each year. She always considered herself a "Jersey Girl," regardless of where she lived.

POSITION OPEN TO ANY AAUW MEMBER

linda.harmon@gmail.com

Carol Cohen, our AAUW-NJ President, has asked me to find someone in the Southern Region to be on the New Jersey AAUW Executive Board as Vice President. Carol said the only responsibility for this position is to arrange the contracts with the venues for our meetings. There are 2 Executive board dinner meetings that have been held at Forsgate Country Club in Monroe Township NJ. There are 2 teleconference meetings which don't need venues. The last event is the State Conference. It is being held on April 30 – May 1st this year at Resorts Hotel and Casino in Atlantic City.

This is a great opportunity to extend your involvement in AAUW!

If interested in the position, kindly contact Linda Harmon at linda.harmon@gmail.com or 609-204-8596.
